AIIC Inventory Clerk Award

The Association of Independent Inventory Clerks (AIIC) has opened nominations of the Inventory Clerk Of The Year Award and is inviting letting agents and landlords to email their vote via the AIIC website.

This is the second year that the AIIC is running the Inventory Clerk Of The Year Award, which asks letting agents and landlords to nominate from the 500 nationwide AIIC members.

Last year's winner was Emma Goddard of EG Inventories, Bournemouth, (right) with one of her clients nominating her for "providing an excellent service and the inventories and reports are second to none, which reflects on our business."

The 2011 Inventory Clerk Of The Year will be announced at the AIIC Annual General Meeting in March 2011, where they will receive a trophy, a year's free AIIC membership and prize money.

Pat Barber, Chair of the AIIC, said, "We are delighted to be opening the nominations for the second annual Inventory Clerk Of The Year Award and look forward to receiving many votes via the website!"

Deadline for voting is 31st January: www.theaiic.co.uk.
